RCR Education during the Pandemic

Formats of RCR Training during the Pandemic

In the first and second quarters of 2020...

Total confirmed cases: 834 Death: 7
Due: 2021-January-11 by Taiwan CDC

Due to a rapid response to the Covid-19 outbreak in January...

Most of semester-length courses at all levels of schools/universities remained face-to-face. To avoid unnecessary social gathering, most of RCR/research ethics face-to-face instruction were temporarily suspended.

Online course played a significant role in the fulfilling renewal requirements of RCR/research ethics training.

Some universities extended the qualification of researchers' current training certificates for a certain time frame (e.g., 6 months).

Formats of RCR Training during the Pandemic

In the third and fourth quarters of 2020...

Semester-length courses at all levels of schools/universities remained face-to-face.

Face-to-face RCR/research ethics instruction was fully resumed in many universities.

Epidemic prevention measures were conducted to secure participants'/students' health across instructional sites.

Online courses still played significant roles in the required renewal of RCR/research ethics training in response to the high demand for training needs in the grant season.

About the Plagiarism Case

- 2020-07 | A candidate for the Kaohsiung mayoral by-election had been accused of plagiarizing other people's academic work verbatim when she was a graduate student in 2008.
- 2020-08 | The university's academic ethics committee, which investigated the allegations, did find a large degree of similarity between the candidate's thesis and text from another master's thesis and a speech by a prominent academic.
- 2020-10 | The university revoked the candidate's master's degree to comply with the Degree Conferral Act.
